Topic: LFI German Temporary Passports

Dear All,

yesterday we had unfortunately 1 INAD on our PC flight. The reason was, the passenger was carrying a German Green Passport, which means it was not a proper Passport, green in Germany is a temporary passport.

He was flying to Dubai and he couldn't enter Dubai without a consulate visa. The system shows us green, because automatically the temporary passport after swiping was registered as a normal one.

So please always double check the documents what the passengers are showing you and check also in the system.

Please be aware of those different passports, the German passports have nothing written regarding temporary but for everyone this green passport means that, please check the bellow attached picture.

As I am always saying, Arabic countries, always double or triple check please.

Regards,

Aquil
