Topic: Flight Briefings

Dear All

The team is growing and the number of flights we handle is getting more and more as well. The supervisors are not able to perform a briefing for each and every flight in person. For this reason, we are going fully digital with the briefings, and everything is going to be written in AvBIS under Flight Comms under the specific flight.

I would like to ask all of you to please read Flight Comms of your flight before you open the check-in and start accepting the passengers.

This way we can ensure that everyone receives the important information which is relevant on the flight you handle.

Thank you for your cooperation and good work!

Norbert
