Topic: Tourist E-Visa and Residence Card to Saudi Arabia

Dear All,

Saudi Arabia is a complicated country. There is now one extra new rule, but it does not mean the passengers are automatically ok to accept. The original rule said, if the passenger has a TOURIST E-VISA with a limited residence card. They are not ok to accept, because they need a unlimited residence card. But if you check the passport and the passenger has this stamp of entering Saudi Arabia, please send a picture of this stamp with all the documents to the visa team, they will decide then yes or no. It's complicated but maybe the passenger could fly!

The stamp looks like this. But please be aware that you still have to ask the visa team.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Thanks!

Regards,

Aquil
